HOW THE SEXUAL REVOLUTION CHANGED AMERICAN CULTURE The Comstock Laws were created in the United States. The first men's magazine was created, titled "Photo Bits." The term "Sexual Revolution" starts to make an appearance. The Supreme Court rules that cinema as an art form is protected under the Fourth Amendment. Playboy magazine is launched. The true "Sexual Revolution" as it is viewed today begins, spreading to middle- and lower-class America and parts of Europe. The first birth control pill, Envoid, Helen Gurley Brown becomes the went on the market. editor-in-chief at Cosmopolitan. Blue Movie, directed by Andy Warhol, becomes the first adult erotic film to be released in the US. The "Miller Standard" is established. Pornography is made available for consumption on pay-per-view channels in hotel and motel rooms. The internet is launched. The Playboy website is launched. The Communication Decency Act is signed. The internet porn industry is valued at between $750 million - $1 billion. The porn industry is valued at $4.9 billion. It is estimated that at any given second, there are over 28,000 people watching pornography on the internet around the world. People vs Brock Turner makes headlines. 40 million Americans regularly visit porn sites. Every second over $3,000 is spent on the porn industry. 25% of all search engine queries are related to pornography. Roughly every 39 minutes a new porn video is created. 2.5 billion emails are sent daily containing porn related content.